Faster Checkout

By having your billing and shipping information preserved between transactions, you will save significant time during the checkout process by eliminating most of your typing and clicking.

Please note: For security reasons, our system is designed to never save credit card information. We are also serious about our No-Nonsense Privacy Policy regarding your personal information.

Order History, Tracking and Messaging

Your completed orders are automatically saved for your convenience. You can monitor the status of your orders and communicate with us through our messaging system. This alleviates the uncertainty and delay typically found when using email.

Wish List Management

Many customers shop on our site in order to obtain pricing or product information without the intent of making a purchase. When that happens, you can add any items you're interested in to your Wish List.

The Wish List helps you avoid the hassle of printing out product information or trying to remember where you saw a product on our website. This enables you to quickly recall products that you may want to purchase in the future, or to share research information with another colleague.
